DETAILED ACTION

Response

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 9-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Malik (6,748,067) in view of Dahari (2004/0076281).

Consider claim 9, Malik teach a method for providing a service, comprising:

A. receiving a call request for a service from a user terminal, initiating a service logic (the initiating is read by checking to see whether the service is not blocked) and determining whether the user terminal has customized prepaid service (the "customized prepaid" is treated as applied or registered for a prepaid service as alleged by applicant) by a Service Control Point (SCP) (col. 3 lines 30-57, determining whether caller has prepaid subscription),

B. providing, by the service logic, the service to the user terminal, charging the service, and invoking a prepaid service logic for deducting, according to a result of the charging from a prepaid account (col. 3 line 59 – col. 4 line 8).

Malik disclosed of providing Internet service via prepaid or pay-per-use basis. Malik did not suggest of providing prepaid Virtual Private Network (VPN) service. However, Dahari disclosed of a system and method for integrating multi services that provides combined prepaid and VPN. Thus providing prepaid VPN services (see paragraphs 0018, 0050).

Art Unit: 2614

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the teaching of Dahari into view of Malik for the purpose of integrating various types of services in order to implementing prepaid service with various types of network access services such as VPN.

Consider claims 10-11, as discussed above, Malik teaches the claimed features (col. 3 lines 35-40, col. 4 lines 10-24).

Consider claims 12-16, as discussed above, Malik teaches the claimed features (col. 7 lines 4-25).

Consider claims 17-19, as discussed above, Malik teaches the claimed features (col. 7 lines 52-63).

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 11/5/2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's argument that the claims are not obvious to a person skilled in the art in view of Malik and Dahari, the fact that applicant has recognized another advantage which would flow naturally from following the suggestion of the prior art cannot be the basis for patentability when the differences would otherwise be obvious. See Ex parte Obiaya, 227 USPQ 58, 60 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1985). Secondly, the test for obviousness is not whether the features of a secondary reference may be bodily incorporated into the structure of the primary reference; nor is it that the claimed invention must be expressly suggested in any one or all of the references. Rather, the test is what the combined teachings of the references would have suggested to those of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981).

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
